

The Brand Reporter, April 1-15, 2007

Intex Technologies, an IT hardware and electronics company that makes speakers, headphones, keyboards and other peripherals has released four new speaker systems: 3600W, 4000W Harmony, 5800W and 6800W.

The speakers enclosed in five satellites come in size 2"-3" and the subwoofers present in the main unit measure between 4"-6". The speakers can source sound from external devices such as DVD players and televisions and are equipped with all the works, including a built-in six channel amplifier and virtual surround for stereo input.

